Criminal Procedure relating to the modification of probation, if it is satisfied that such action is warranted by the conduct of the defendant released and the interest of justice.

The Court is aware that after release to a halfway house Ms. Chan found employment and she exhibited positive performance while on supervised release. Throughout her term of supervision, Ms. Chan has maintained regular contact with her probation officer, she has timely filed all her monthly reports, and she has had no infractions while on supervised release. Ms. Chan has benefited from supervision, she is not a danger to the community, and the community does not need to expend resources by continuing to monitor her behavior. It is in the interests of justice to terminate Ms. Chan's supervision at this time.

Accordingly, Defendant Man Wai Chan's motion for early termination of supervised release (Dkt. #126) is GRANTED. Supervision is terminated.

DATED this 20th day of June, 2016.
